BY LEONARD E. CHAPMAN.

(The Maine State Musical Association will close its seventeenth annual three day's public entertainment at Portland on Wednesday the 8th day of this month with Prof. William R. Chapman of Bethel serving as chief director as he has done each year, and as the records of the antecedents of the association as presented to the public by a metropolitan newspaper contributor appear to be very interesting reading, particularly the references made to the Professor, the article in full is here copied, as follows, feeling very sorry that I cannot give the name of the paper in which it appeared with date of issue.)

"J. OTIS SWIFT'S GOTHAM GOS-SIP."

The Story of William R. Chapman's Early Life in Bethel and New York."

"Last Tuesday night at the Waldorf-Astoria the Rubenstein Club of New York began its fifteenth season by a concert in the beautiful ball room of the hotel. This is the most select musical organization in New York, and members among its members many from the first ranks of the Four Hundred. Prof. W. R. Chapman of Bethel, Me., is the conductor. His wife, the charming music lover, who has worked so hard for music in Maine, is a member. Mrs. Annie Louise Cary Raymond and Mrs. Hugh J. Chisholm are two of the Maine women who are on the Board of Patrons. Mrs. Raymond was one of the founders, when Mr. Chapman got the musical people of the State together, fifteen years ago, and organized the society."

"The concert of Tuesday was a delightful affair. The Club is composed of ladies, and its concerts are of a private nature and combine a social element with the musical. The concert programs are composed of part songs and madrigals rendered by the club, with the addition of one or more solo artists; frequently members of the club also appear as soloists. The artistic membership is limited to seventy-five and includes many of the leading church and concert soloists. At the concert in the Waldorf-Astoria hall room sold for $20 each, while single tickets were $1.50. It was one of the most delightful affairs that I ever attended at this famous New York hotel, and I have attended many there. Among the solos were several of Kate Vanhook's."

"Sitting in a corner of the great reception room of the hotel after the concert I heard the story of William R. Chapman—a story of pathos, great ambition, obstacles overcome by hard work and natural genius; overcome also by a brave heart, an optimistic disposition, and a natural magnetism possessed by few men."

"The Rev. W. R. Chapman of Bethel, Maine, was a New York clergyman of fifty years ago. His wife was a bright Massachusetts woman, a lover of music, and was possessed of a sweet, strong voice of much value. While Jerry Lind was traveling in America she had for one of her chief pleasures and concert stages the mother of the Maine Festival leader. It was to wonder that the young Bethel minister, making a way for himself in New York, fell in love with this one study of Jeanne Lind. It was a natural affair, and they were very happy here in New York, some forty-five years ago."

"Mrs. Chapman loved her minister husband and she dreamed long days of an impossible place for her son to be born, and she was happy. It was the old Chapman farm, the homestead of the family."

"When the present William R. Chapman was thirteen weeks old his father died. I do not know the cause of his death, but perhaps the

LYON - CARTER PRETTY WEDDING ON PARK ST.

The marriage of Miss Barbara Allen Carter and Mr. Edward P. Lyon took place on the evening of Oct. 1st at the residence of her mother on Kings Park. The festivities were conducted with a simplicity, made beautiful by such service as only loving hearts can give. All sudden thoughts were resolutely put aside and it was, in truth, a joyous and happy time, and we hope will be a symbol of the life of the bride and groom in the years to come.

The service, read by the Rev. W. C. Curtis, was dignified and impressive. The bride was given away by her mother. The ceremony was performed under a canopy of forest green with flowers and autumn foliage.

To the strains of the wedding march the bride and groom came in between chains of white ribbon, evergreen and flowers carried by Misses Florence and Julia Carter, Mildred Haggood, Carrie King, Frances Carter and Susan King. Mrs. J. W. Carter presided at the piano.

The bride's gown was white crepe de chine over white satin, and she carried bride roses, her only ornament was a chain and pendant, the gift of the groom.

The presents were varied and beautiful. The living rooms were decorated with asters, sweet peas, autumn leaves and evergreen, the dining room with pink ribbon, carnations, ferns and other autumn flowers.

Mrs. J. W. Carter and Miss Julia Carter served refreshments, and distributed the wedding cake.

The old fashioned bride's cake, cut by Mrs. Lyon, contained many gifts, put there by the families, presumably, and found by many of the party more or less appropriately.

After the refreshments were served much amusement was caused when it became known that the bride and groom had disappeared, only a chosen few being in the secret.

In our grandmother's days in Connecticut a young lady, it was a pretty custom to say, "May I dance at your wedding?" This became it really true at this wedding, for after the happy pair were gone the older people danced the Virginia reel and to the entertainment of the younger ones, and the sisters of the bride were made to conform to other old time customs, to the delight of the guests.

The good wishes bestowed on the young people were as unnumbered as the flowers of the confetti showered upon them as they went up the stairs.

May life's best gift, of happy love, attend you,
Walk closely with you, through the coming years
Filling your hearts, good courage may I lead you
To bear together, all life's sorrows and tears.

May sweet content, your every foot step follow,
Through all life's changing ways, nor ever cease,
Your steps to guide, your steadfast love to harken,
That all your paths be pleasant and serene.

OXFORD COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION

The Oxford County Sunday School Association held last Wednesday at the Bethel Methodist church a convention which the President, Dr. Buck, of South Paris, declared was the best attended and most helpful meeting of the association for several years.

At the forenoon session the Secretary of the State Association gave a clear and interesting address on the relation of the organization to the individual schools, and the importance of intelligently and generously supporting its work.

At the noon hour about forty delegates from out of town enjoyed together the dinner provided by the ladies of the entertaining church at Odd Fellows Hall.

In the afternoon Prof. W. S. Wright led the opening song service, and Rev. L. G. March of Vassalboro contributed special music. At the business session new plans were taken under consideration for increasing the efficiency of the county association in reaching the different sections of its scattered constituency.

Rev. L. G. March outlined a house to house canvass of his home town which he illustrated by the use of a large map. He showed how churches could cooperate in making such a survey, and how practical results could be made to follow it. Mr. P. E. Stone of Norway spoke helpfully on the Graded Systems in Sunday School work, and Rev. W. C. Curtis on the Boys' Work. These addresses were followed by discussions which added many points to those made in the formal addresses.

At the evening meeting, the features were addresses by Mr. Wier and Rev. L. G. March, the former on the great work of the Sunday School Convention at Zurich, and the latter on Six Vital Points in Sunday School Work.

To their appreciation of the program, the visiting delegates filled many words of praise for the convention village and the hospitality of the entertaining church.

"RALLY WEEK" AT THE METHODIST CHURCH.

This was planned as an extension of the familiar Rally Day which we associate with Sunday School work more particularly. If an attractive program, special invitations, and committees to bring about a general walk up of the Sunday School in goal, they were not the same thing as rally week organizations in the same way.

The Methodist church closed the night of assembling the question, because of the unobtainable spaces of the place of the past week. Each of the ladies participating in the program entered heartily into the plan, the attendance was large at each service, and a spirit of helpfulness and of unity was in evidence which was an aid to enthusiasm, and promises much for the later work of this church.

At the Roll Call of club members on Tuesday evening eight seven answered to their names. On Thursday evening the ladies of the local Women's Missionary Societies offered a program of exceptional interest with Mrs. Agnes Voss of Portland as the principal speaker. Friday afternoon the members of the family hall and their mothers were provided with extensive meat and refreshments at the society through the efficient interest of Mrs. Angie Paul, the Stella Hall Society, and her company of helpers.

On Friday evening, the Young Men's Christian League of the church and the local Workers' society of young men on united to give their program of songs, readings, and addresses, closing with a very enjoyable social at which tea and cake were served.

On Sunday the Sunday School had a right of way. A special program, "The Camels of the Desert," was given with the help of the club in place of the usual preaching service. Then the Superintendent of the Sunday School, Mr. A. F. Adams, took charge and conducted the opening exercises of the school, followed by a brief word of exhortation and an earnest word of exhortation.

Reports from the several churches and each of the classes were given, and the pastor announced that a New Year's party or banquet would be given to the class making the best record in attendance for the ensuing three months.

The attendance was exceptionally large at both the evening services also, making this a real rally day for the whole church. The program and help of Mrs. L. H. Stone of North Paris, was

Their home was one of hospitality and friendship which people liked to visit.

MURDER AT RUMFORD

Another tragedy occurred at the Joe Bill house on High street, Sunday, when Luigi Reiss and Mario Balba became angry at each other over a game of cards. According to the accounts of the police these two men with several others who were present and indulging in the game of cards had a scrap in which Reiss and Balba rolled down a flight of stairs, wrestling for the control of a revolver which Balba had. During this time Balba drew the revolver on Reiss and succeeded in shooting him through the eyes fatally; even after being fatally wounded Reiss was able to turn the revolver on Balba and fire a shot into his throat. The officers were summoned and removed Balba to the hospital where it is thought he will recover. He is under police surveillance and will be held on the charge of killing Reiss.

Reiss was thirty-five years of age and was employed by the Water District as boss of a ditching gang. He leaves a widow and two children. Corner Elliott held an inquest on Monday morning which lasted into the afternoon, the result of which was that the jury brought in a verdict of "Death by the hand of Mario Balba."

RECEPTION AT CANTON FOR MR. AND MRS. FLOYD COLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cole of Marblehead, Mass., arrived in town, Thursday night, to visit his mother, Mrs. Basil Cole, aunt, Mrs. Eric Burke, and uncle, Andrew P. York and Ervin York and families.

Mr. Cole has given up his position in Mexico and the young couple will make their home in the States.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. A. P. York entertained a few friends at their home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cole, which was a very pleasant occasion. Games, music and social intercourse were enjoyed until a late hour. Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with bright autumn leaves, potted plants, and yellow and white crepe paper, streamers of which extended from the hanging lamp to the sides of the room, while music and games were the table decorations, and appropriate place cards were read, an especially prepared favor being placed at the plate of the bridegroom. The menu consisted of oysters cocktail, creamed lobster, and game on toast, fancy crackers, fruit punch, nuts, and confectionery of all kinds.

STORING VEGETABLES.

Potatoes should have plenty of air-circled time sprinkled among them when stored, as the time will absorb the moisture and prevent sprouting or rotting. If the cellar is very warm the potatoes may begin growth later on, and the sprouts must be rubbed off, as they take the life out of the potato.

Turnips, beets, carrots and such vegetables as can not be left in the ground, will retain their crispness and freshness if packed in layers of sand or garden soil. If the cellar is too dry, and they begin to shrivel, water should be sprinkled over the top of the soil to moisten, but not make it wet. The sand or soil should be about as moist as the soil naturally is. Tubers and roots should be kept as moist as when taken from the ground.

Onions and apples should be laid on shelves, and be kept as cool as possible, but not allowed to freeze.

In all underground storages for the family supply of vegetables, fruits, milk, butter, lard, etc., it is essential that all noxious gases be eliminated. Charcoal is an absorbent of gas, and should be set about in the cellar to purify and sweeten the atmosphere. Stagnant unwholesome gases are liable to exist. Lime will absorb moisture, and sweeten the air, also. Where milk, butter, or other foods that readily absorb odors are stored, a dish of charcoal should be set near them. Underground cellars should be kept clean and sweet, as the vapors, gases and odors arising from the contents during the winter may bring sickness to the rooms above.

THE COOK'S RETORT.

"And I wish you'd eat something I can cook," was her reply.—Detroit Free Press.

WOMAN A GREAT SUFFERER

Tells How She Was Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Grayville, Ill.—"I was a great sufferer of female complaints for a year and I got nothing that helped me until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was irregular and had cramps so bad that I had to go to bed. Now I have better health than I have had for years and I cannot speak too highly of your medicine."—Mrs. JENNIE SCHLAE, 418 Main St., Grayville, Ill.

Case of Mrs. Tully. Chicago, Ill.—"I take pleasure in writing to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with such awful periodic pains, and had a displaced uterus, and received no benefit from any other medicine."—Mrs. TULLY, 2058 Ogden Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Med. Dept., (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

YOU CAN'T EAT APPETITE POOR

Multitudes of people lose their appetite. Simply don't care for anything to eat. The dinner bell has no interest to them. They loathe their breakfast. They may nibble a little of this and a little of that, but they do not care for it.

Lunch has lost all of its charms, although they try to eat something. Dinner about the same.

There is something positively wrong, of course, but no disease that can be named. Just out of sorts. That is all.

It is in this kind of a condition that Peruna acts very beneficially. After using Peruna, interest in food is revived. Beginning with a teaspoonful of Peruna before each meal will generally quickly improve the appetite and help the digestion.

Thousands of people can testify to this. Liberated from a slavery that is almost unbearable. The slavery of having no interest in life. All used up. Yet one does not know exactly why. Take Peruna before each meal. Slices will get blue again. Fields will look green once more and life will be pleasant. You will feel that you are good for something and the world is a good place to live in. Peruna will do it. Eat as an antidote. Stimulant. Simply a tonic that stimulates appetite in a natural way. Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

GOOD NEWS

Many Rumford Falls Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Rumford Falls are glad to learn where relief may be found. Many a lame, weak and aching back is no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with this tested remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

John M. Harlow, R. F. D. 1, Rumford Falls, Me., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the best of all kidney remedies. I hope others suffering from kidney trouble will give them a trial. I was quite miserable about two years ago, suffering from an attack of kidney trouble. There were pains in my back and the kidney secretions were unnatural and irregular in passage. I lost much weight, due to loss of rest, as I had to arise many times during the night. Reading of others who had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, I tried them. I was cured and I have had no sign of the trouble since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

It seemeth such a little way to me Across to that strange country, the
Beyond;
And yet not strange—for it has grown to be
The home of those of whom I am so fond;
They make it seem familiar and most
dear,
As journeying friends bring distant countries near.
So close it lies, that, when my sight is clear,
I think I see the gleaming strand;
I know, I feel that those who've gone from here
Come near enough to touch my hand.
I often think but for our veiled eyes
We should find a heaven right 'round about us lie.

I cannot make it seem a day to dread
When from this dear earth I shall journey out
To that still deeper country of the dead,
And join the lost ones so long dreamed about.
I face this world, yet shall I love to go And meet the friends who wait for me, I know.
I cover almost a tier and yet
The end of death set on some well loved face,
And that I think: "One more to welcome me
When I shall cross the intervening space
Between this land and that one over there—
One more to make the strange Beyond seem fair."

And so for me there is no sting to death,
And so for me the grave has lost its victory;
It is but crossing, with shaded breath
And white, set face, a little strip of sea,
To find the loved ones waiting on the shore,
More beautiful, more precious than before.

LOCAL HISTORY.

great joy of fatherhood—more likely a constitution injured by overwork in New York. New York demands overwork—always did and always will.

"This was the first appearance of the mystic number thirteen in his life.
His greatest sorrows, his greatest successes have come on the thirteenth.
Rev. T. L. Caylor and Rev. W. W.
Almon, New York men of note, had been his father's colleagues in this metropolis, and they went down to Maine to attend the funeral.

"After that the young widow and her remarkable boy remained quietly on the little Oxford County farm.
Willie chased the squirrels in the fall, banned the yellow lady's slipper in the hick woods, and studied all nature as beaming boys ever have, and ever will. Give me the boy who knows where the crows nest is and brown rabbit burrow. Some day he will stand before the people as an interpreter of God. He who knows how to read the characters printed on the papyrus bark of the birch tree will not long puzzle over the mysteries of the sacred.

"When Mrs. Chapman married a second husband and came to New York to live, the boy was a big-eyed,
strong limbed lad of thirteen years, and in his face was the imprint of the beauty of the Gilead mountains and the shadow of the mysteries of the hills of Bethel. He was sensitive, intelligent, artistic little fellow, bent upon one thing—that of being a minister and "showing the True Way to those lured upon the Wheel." He was fourteen years old when his hard study clouded his eyesight, and for months he had to lie in a darkened room. His companions and delight in those long hours was his mother's piano. Sometimes she would go softly into his privacy and sitting at the instrument sing over to him the songs he loved to hear her sing at evening, when the moon rose over Mount Beesie, the mountain of his boyhood in Bethel. But more often he sat dreamily making chords for his own amusement and pleasure.
When he was stricken blind he could not play. When he was released from the darkness his music was wonderful.
Into his piano playing he threw his whole soul. The boy had hoped that in preaching the gospel he might find a vehicle for the unsaid things in the heart. He hoped that by spoken words and example of an upright life he could satisfy the longing for the god-like in the heart and mind of men.
Now he discovered that all the won-derous truths he had tried to put into words, the which his tongue refused to say, he could now pour out, better and in his music, his piano playing.
He had found his place, and from things could not pull him away. So naturally was he at his instrument, and such a mysterious and powerful effect did his random playing have upon his friends, his mother took him to S. H. Mills who was then the leading teacher of the piano in New York. He savored wrap in wonder, and when at last he had stopped with a sigh, all the light died slowly out of his face. Mr. Mills exclaimed: "There is no boy in Manhattan save this one who can do that. It were a crime to take a preacher of him. He has trans-

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by lated more of God in this half hour than he could in years of preaching."

Young Chapman longed for his Bethel mountains, as we all do for the loved things at home, but he kept at his practice. George F. Bristow taught him harmony, and Dr. Catter gave him organ lessons. When it comes time for him to go down in the country the summer he was sixteen years old, he was practicing thirteen hours a day, and they had to tear him away by main force. In those years his mother lived in a pretty house here at Fordham, twelve miles from City Hall, and he often used to walk over to the little white cottage on the Kingbridge road where the poet Edgar Allen Poe lived long ago with his Virginia. Or perhaps he walked down to the little babbling river, the Bronx, where the gentle poet walked to commune with nature and nature's wild things. Mr.
Chapman still owns property in Fordham, and the growth of the city has made it valuable.

"Before he was seventeen he was playing the church organ at Mamaroneck, on the Sound, at a salary of $500 a year. It was the church of Dr.
Slicer, then a country minister, but more recently a distinguished city divine.

"Now came another mysterious number thirteen in his life. He worked like a Trojan, teaching, etc., The church of the Covenant at Thirty-fifth street and Park avenue asked him to play its organ. He did so and for thirteen years he did not miss a Sunday till the church was built over into the present one. He was at that time recognized as a leader in the first musical circles in New York. He was teaching thirteen public schools in Manhattan. I think that it was the long drilling he received in this capacity that fitted him to develop the best in the Maine choruses now under his care. It brought out and emphasized the rather remarkable personal magnetism of the man."

"Then he met his wife, the charming little woman who has proved again that two heads are better than one.
She was a Chicago girl, the daughter of Mr. Samuel Faulkner a well known citizen of the Windy City. She came to New York to visit friends, and Mr.
Chapman met her and fell in love. She was a musician, possessed of a good voice. They were married, and aided by her, he made still greater strides.
He organized choruses in those rich old towns up on the Hudson, as well as in New York city. But New York was not then and is not now a great patron of music.

"Twelve years ago he heard the old farm at Bethel was for sale, and bought it. He has made over the buildings, turned it into a stock farm and summer home, and passes a good deal of time there. Last summer Mr.
Chapman entertained a party of musicians there, among them Kate Van-nah and Madame Lillian Blauvelt.

"A picture of Madame Blauvelt taken while she sat in a canoe at her summer home at Eastport, Me. looks down at me from the wall of my den.
I'll send it along to show how successfully a great singer can embody under the influence of the woods, the lakes, the fishing tackle, gun, and a canoe.
Madame Blauvelt will soon return to America from a successful tour of Germany and England.

At present the pretty daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Chapman, Dimple, as they love to call her, is at home in Bethel where she is keeping the old home open with the help of Mrs. Mary Wiley, who is a daughter-in-law of the beloved old Doctor Wiley. (Dr.
Wiley, you know, is a brother of Isaac Wiley's mother. Have you read Mrs.
Isaac Wiley's book "How Babies" It is worth reading.)

"How was it that you first determined to go down to Maine to give musical Festivals?" I asked Mrs. Chapman Tuesday night.

"Why, it was the suggestion of Annie Louise Cary Raymond," she said. "She helped us organize the Robertson Club and after the concert, one night, she came over to us and said 'Mr. Chapman, I want you to do something for your own state—your state and mine. Go down and give some concerts there.'"

"I'll do it, if you will along for me," said my husband.

"Oh, I can't do that. I am out of it. But I love the old state and want you to give an annual festival there." You know the rest. We went

Loss of Appetite

Is loss of vitality, vigor or tone, a sign of a weakening of the system? It is a warning and especially so to people who must keep up a good record of health.

The best medicine to take for it is the great constitutional remedy

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Which purifies and strengthens the blood and builds up the whole system.

Down to Bethel and talked about it. Mrs. John G. Gehring of Bethel and Herman L. Horne of Norway helped us plan it. We went to Lewiston and Mr. Bert H. Dingley and his father, and Mr. Arthur G. Staples encouraged us. Homer N. Chase of Auburn helped us two years, and a good deal of credit is due him.

"After that the movement got too deep and strong to be managed solely by us, and others joined the crusade. We gave the first concert in Portland and Bangor, and all New England knows the rest. It has been a great success. To get the first stars and be able to pay them, we have organized in other states, but Maine is our first and greatest love."

"Among the Maine women who are members of the Rubenstein Club of New York, are Mrs. Hannah Keen, of Rockland, studying to be a professional musician; Miss Florence Freeman of Portland, studying here; Mrs. Jennie King Dragoon, of Portland, who was here, but has returned to Portland; Mrs. W. P. Venable, of Bangor, who is a society woman, but has a rare soprano voice; Mrs. Joseph P. Knapp, and Mrs. Hugh J. Chisholm.

"One of the directors of the Apollo Club is Mr. R. B. Drake, of New York, formerly a Lewiston boy. He possesses a rare voice, and sings in Grace Episcopal church choir on Broadway, the church of Rev. Dr. Huntington. Dr. Huntington passes his summers on the Maine coast."

If Mothers Only Knew

How frequently children suffer from worms they would take more precaution against this common ailment of childhood.

Grown folks also have worms very frequently. Signs of worms are: Deranged stomach, furred tongue, belching, variable appetite, increased thirst, acid or heavy breath, nausea, enlarged abdomen, variable bowel action, pale face of leaden tint, blotchy rings around eyes, itching of nostrils, jaundice, irritability, disturbed sleep, grinding of teeth, irregularity of pulse.

Over 60 years ago my father discovered the formula of Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. This remedy has a world-wide reputation as the one safe and reliable remedy for worms and stomach disorders. At dealers', 35c, 50c and $1. Advice free. Write me.
